Would your child like to learn the keyboard/piano?

As an extension of Andy Davis Guitar Teaching, I would like to offer the opportunity for children to learn other instruments in school.

Having analysed responses from the google form sent out I will be looking to start keyboard/piano lessons in September (provided there are sufficient numbers), with a view to introduce further instruments at a later date.

There will opportunities for playing to an audience, which is great for building confidence and experiencing live performance. This is optional. Lessons will be during school hours.

Individual Lesson cost: 30 minutes £18 (£90 for 5 week term)
20 minutes £12 (£60 for 5 week term)

To get the best value from lessons and to see steady to fast progress, having a keyboard to play on at home will be a huge advantage.

Unless you have a piano or keyboard at home, I recommend a keyboard with touch responsive or weighted keys and a sustain pedal. In other words, the key will respond to how hard it is played and with a sustain pedal pressed by the foot, a note will continue to sound after it has been released. These are both an important element in playing the piano.

I source quality instruments from Germany that are also great value.

If you would like to purchase a quality portable keyboard with touch responsive keys, sustain pedal, plus masses of settings and rhythms to play around with, I can supply these for £160 including a stand and headphones. Bags are a further £30. Keyboards would not need to be brought into school.

If you would like your child to learn the keyboard please email me at andydavisguitar@fastmail.net with the following details:
